

The FCC needs to open up as many unlicensed WISP broadband frequencies as possible.

Rural areas such as the Coeur d'Alene Tribe in North Idaho have little or no access to copper based communication systems for area residents. To deliver WISP broadband to the community, we are limited to using only WISP broadband frequencies.

Tom Jones
Broadband Operations Manager
Coeur d'Alene Tribe